

The Literacies of Contemporary Civic Life

The CSU Department of English is pleased to host nationally recognized researchers discussing contemporary shifts in literacy and youth civic participation.

The speakers will be presenting their work and engaging in dialogue in Clark A 205 from 5:30-6:30 p.m. followed by a brief reception.

The speakers and dates for this series are as follows:

2/11: Buffy Hamilton
School Librarian, Norcross High School,
Atlanta, GA; 2011 Library Journal Mover and Shaker.

2/18: Mark Gomez, Patricia Hanson, & Katie Rainge-Briggs
School designers and educators from the Schools for Community Action, Los Angeles, CA.

3/4: Marcelle Haddix
Assistant Professor,
Syracuse University School of Education, NY.

3/11: Patrick Camangian
Assistant Professor, University of San Francisco and teacher at Mandela High School, Oakland, CA.

4/22: Linda Christensen - Instructor and Director of the Oregon
Writing Project, Lewis & Clark Graduate School of Education and Counseling & Rethinking Schools Editorial Board member, Portland, OR.

All events are free and open to the public.

If you have additional questions or would like more details please email antero.garcia@colostate.edu